The latest discoveries of the group of scientists under the leadership of Prof. Andrzej Frydrychowski, MD, Ph.D.

The wellU Group scientists, as first in the world, discovered a method of extraction which allows acquiring a whole range of biologically active oligopeptides and polypeptides from the skins of chosen species of fish. Larens cosmeceuticals are enriched with the complex of these unusual substances. Our preparations contain several hundred biologically active natural peptides that mostly come from these three groups of proteins: decorin, lumican and histones. They are mostly small peptides, 7-29 amino acids.

The wellU Group scientists developed the world's only complex of bioactive oligo- and polypeptides. Preparations from the Nano Collagen series contain as much as 100 times more peptides than the products of other brands.

Recognition on European markets

Preparations created by the wellU Group were found exceptional and awarded a number of prizes such as:

From the many distinctions received, one of most meaningful is the silver medal at the 55th World Exhibition of Innovation, Research and New Technologies BRUSSELS EUREKA 2006.

Only breakthrough discoveries on a global scale in the field of science receive this prize!

MTT cytotoxicity test

The whole world of science seeks to ensure that in developed active substances the observed cytotoxic effect is eliminated while the desired activity remains. This is a very difficult task, especially when synthetic substances are being used that only act selectively.

The scientists at the wellU Group were able to create a complex of natural fish peptides which, on the one hand stimulate the synthesis of collagen, while significantly slow down the cytotoxic activity on the other hand.

No preparation in the world can compare with these results.

NUTRIVI water

- the future of health and care

- NUTRIVI water is nano and hexagonal
- NUTRIVI water is an excellent carrier and solvent for active substances
- NUTRIVI water penetrates into most cells, providing hydration to the deep layers of the skin
- NUTRIVI water ensures high absorption of active substances

The water in the body is a carrier and storage of information because it is a substance capable of carrying information via a mechanism in the form of an electromagnetic matrix.

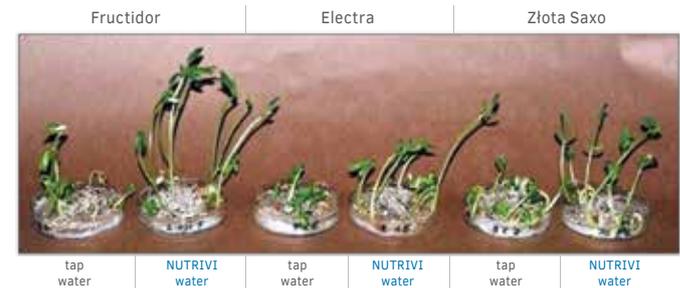

NANO - a very small water molecule, has the tremendous ability to penetrate any cell, even mutant cells, to stimulate the natural processes of self-regeneration.

Nutrivi water helps the skin to almost completely absorb active substances and nutrients contained in LARENS cosmetics, strengthening and nurturing the skin with incomparably better results. It is an excellent carrier of other substances, facilitating their transport.

Nutrivi water is the base of all LARENS cosmetics. The hexagonal and organized structure of Nano water is the essence of moisturizing and daily care of all skin types. Nutrivi water has the tremendous ability to penetrate all skin cells, even damaged cells. It intensely moisturizes, stimulates the regeneration of damaged structures, strengthens natural defences and soothes irritation.

The proof for NUTRIVI water

Comparison of growth of the three strains of dwarf French beans:

Research on the blood supply of the hands conducted after 7 days of drinking "revitalization"* water using the ADR system by Dr Adrian Wosiński.

The expanded "revitalization water"* system, based on inventions by Dr Adrian Wosiński, Dr Diana Wojtkowiak and Professor Andrzej Frydrychowski is used in the production of Nutrivi water.

NUTRIVI water

The latest technology generators used in water production on the basis of which Larens cosmeceuticals and Nutrivi nutra-ceutics are produced. The generators are an extraordinary invention that allow changing the water structure. The most important benefits of using Nutrivi water in the production of Larens and Nutrivi preparations include:

- A significant improvement in the transport of nutrients contained in Larens and Nutrivi preparations deeper into the skin and in the human body (analysis of preparation effectiveness).
- Aligning energy disturbances in humans, measured along acupuncture canals, which was confirmed by the RYODORAKU method.
- Faster regeneration in people exposed to increased physical effort (study of heart rate).
- Removing excessive concentrations of heavy metals from the human body (research by Dr Wosiński using the ADR-4 system in the USA, carried out by Trace Elements Inc.).

Bioactive collagen

Due to its unique capabilities, collagen creates a protein net on the skin, the skin does not lose moisture and cells become firm and energized. They begin to produce their own collagen. The skin becomes more smooth and delicate, its flexibility and tension improves. It regains its firmness, elasticity and healthy appearance much faster. It smooths wrinkles, slows down the ageing process. In the collagen formation process besides protein we obtain chains of peptides and free amino acids. The main function of peptides is to facilitate "communication" between cells and to stimulate natural physiological processes in the skin. Moreover, polypeptides reinforce the protective film of the skin, preventing the influence of harmful factors. Amino acids have the capability for retaining moisture, they are the NMF (Natural Moisturizing Factor) component, which is the natural moisturizing factor of the skin. They moisturize, increasing the hygroscopic effect of other NMF components. They soften the skin and make it more flexible.

Collagen is the most important protein to the human body. It represents 30% of the total protein mass in the human body and is responsible for the flexibility, firmness, proper moisture level of the skin and the continuous renewal of its cells.

With age, the body loses its capability to regenerate collagen which effects we observe by watching our skin condition grow worse.

One of the methods for slowing/preventing skin ageing caused by the decreased production of collagen is to supply it from the outside. Attempts at initial synthetic collagen usage and bovine collagen application did not produce the desired effect in cosmetics and implantology. This is mainly because the biologically active collagen in amino acid chains identical to humans has not been acquired so far.

The discovery of the method of obtaining fish collagen, which maintains the structure of the triple helix - specific to the proteins of living organisms - has become one of the most interesting discoveries in biochemistry in the twentieth century. According to many, it is probably one of the greatest discoveries of worldwide cosmetology and biotechnology of proteins.

As a result, this work has appeared on the market as unique preparation proteins showing strong corrective skin properties, which is successfully used by a huge consumer base in many countries of the world.

It is one of the few preparations that directly deals with the causes of skin ageing (collagen deficiency) as opposed to the thousands of other cosmetics that instead deal with the consequences.

FISH PEPTIDES The future of worldwide cosmetology

BIOPEPTIDE COMPLEX

Biologically active “bomb” of natural oligopeptides and polypeptides.

Peptides are organic chemical compounds formed by the peptide bond combining amino acid molecules.

Oligopeptides – are short chains consisting of several amino acids.

Polypeptides – are longer chains, consisting of several amino acids.

Peptides are mostly responsible for the regulation of cellular processes and intercellular communication, which has a significant impact on the functioning of the skin. Oligo- and polypeptides have a strong anti-ageing action. Peptides are also used in the treatment of dermatological diseases due to their properties such as stimulation of skin protein synthesis.

Peptides, unlike proteins, can pass through the skin barrier and penetrate into the deeper layers of the skin due to much smaller particles composed of several to a dozen amino acids.

Peptides act directionally, stimulating certain processes in the skin:

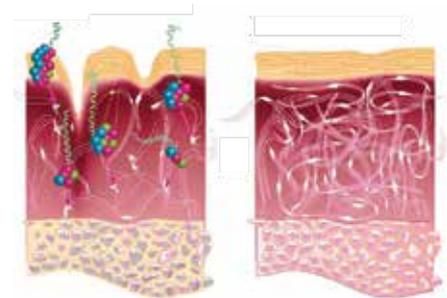

- increase the thickness of the dermis and epidermis,
- increase the flexibility of the skin,
- removal of imperfections caused by photoageing which is skin discoloration.

The increase in cohesiveness, density and firmness of the skin is determined by 3 different peptide performance mechanisms, which depending on the biological activity can be divided into:

- signal peptides that stimulate the activity of fibroblasts to produce skin supporting fibres - collagen and elastin, therefore contribute to the shallowing of wrinkles

- inhibitors of neurotransmitters known as neuropeptides loose muscles responsible for the formation of the wrinkles
- peptides transporting active substances into the skin

Damaged skin

Regenerated skin

The parameter responsible for the biopeptide therapeutic effect is its appropriate content in the formula and this is a huge asset of LARENS products.

Peptides are used to carry active ingredients into the skin. They have energizing properties -stimulating skin cells to produce collagen and elastin. They help fight skin discolourations - brightening and evening the skin tone. The effect of their use in cosmetics is an elastic body, filling in fissures and unevenness as well as prevents sagging skin.

Peptides - the future of cosmetology and medicine

Transporting - reaching biological activity areas, connecting them with other substances and transporting them to the deep layers of the skin,

Signalling – they give a signal that the collagen is damaged - they stimulate fibroblasts for the production of collagen and elastins,

Relaxing - “an iron for wrinkles” blocking the impulses of nerve cells, loosening muscles responsible for mimic wrinkles, provide the “Botox” effect.

Biopeptide Complex - dermatology and cosmetology in action

Peptides are short chains of proteins, composed of several to 29 amino acids. They penetrate the skin. They are absorbed from the digestive system. They are very beneficial for the whole organism and not only the skin. Fish skins contain many active substances that have a beneficial impact on both our beauty and health.

The benefits for your skin and body:

- They carry active components into the skin,
- They stimulate the production of collagen, elastin and hyaluronic acid,
- They provide the necessary building blocks for collagen regeneration in many organs such as: joints, cartilages, nails, hair, eyeballs and liver,
- They inhibit the activity of metalloproteinases (ageing enzymes),
- They relieve pain, alleviating the effect of a harsh climate as well as mechanical and chemical environmental factors,
- They are anti-inflammatory,
- They inhibit the secretion of interleukin - which causes prolonged acute inflammation,
- The effect of their use in cosmetics is an elastic body, filling in fissures and unevenness as well as prevention of sagging skin,
- They help fight discolorations - brightening and evening skin complexion,
- They regulate the angiogenesis process - the formation of capillaries.

A BREAKTHROUGH IN
THE FIELD OF COSMETOLOGY
AND DERMOCOSMETOLOGY

LARENS cosmeceuticals labelled ORGANIC PLUS are free from parabens and PEGs. They contain only safe preservatives and are free of mineral oils, artificial colours and flavours.

LARENS cosmeceuticals labelled SLIM FORMULA stimulate the burning of fat tissues as well as solve the problem of annoying cellulite.

Dermo Wash Face & Body

Dermo face and body cleanser based on a Biopeptide Complex and Nutrivi water formula. This product is designed for everyday care of skin prone to acne, with allergy problems and sensitive skin. The combination of BIOPEPTIDE COMPLEX, ectoines, allantoin, argan oil and aloe extract ensures perfect moisturization, soothes irritation and redness. The preparation has a sebo-regulating effect and effectively protects cells from the effects of harmful factors, with antibacterial and anti-inflammatory actions. It leaves a feeling of long-lasting moisturization. This product has been developed according to the Organic Plus formula - it is odourless, free from parabens, SLS, SLES and mineral oils. It is produced using only safe and natural preservatives.

Biopeptide Complex - a valuable combination of oligopeptides and polypeptides, providing immediate and long-lasting moisturization in all the layers of the skin as well as prevents sagging. Peptides are used to carry active ingredients deep into the skin, resulting in deeply nourished skin, an elastic and firm body, filling in fissures and unevenness. They also have energizing properties, stimulating skin cells to produce collagen and elastin. They help fight discoloration, effectively brighten and even skin colouring.

Ectoine - has a protective and stabilizing action. As a natural substance it has strong actions protecting DNA and human cell membranes. It protects against the negative influence of external phenomena: extreme temperatures, UV radiation, the effects of ever-present viruses and bacteria. In addition to strong protective properties, ectoine is also used to relieve allergy symptoms. This ingredient is also used in dermatology, where it plays an important role in treating and relieving symptoms of atopic dermatitis, psoriasis and acne. Inhibits the development of inflammation and regulates the activity of sebaceous glands. Studies that used Ectoine confirmed that the molecule, due its unique properties to bind water, moisturises the skin, slows down the ageing process as well as reduces itching and rough skin.

Allantoin - facilitates the healing of wounds, soothes symptoms of psoriasis, has anti-inflammatory actions and accelerates skin regeneration. Allantoin is used primarily as a means to stimulate granulation tissue, i.e., the emergence of a new connective tissue, containing a rich network of capillaries as well as accelerates the healing of wounds. Easily penetrates the skin. It softens and removes dead cells. It protects the skin from minor injuries, damages, abrasions and sunburns.

Argan oil - one of the most regarded oils in the world, known as the "Gold of Morocco" and has obtained remarkable recognition in modern medicine and cosmetology. It is obtained from the fruit of the argan tree by cold pressing. The richness of argan oil comes primarily from its unique composition - it contains a unique composition of fatty acids, which has properties stimulating intracellular oxygenation, restoring lipid protection as well as ensures sufficient moisturization of the skin. In addition, it has an anti-wrinkle action and slows down the ageing processes of the skin, which is due to the high level of vitamin E, which is one of the strongest antioxidants with moisturizing actions. It stimulates intracellular oxygenation and restores the proper lipid protection as well as provides sufficient moisturization of the skin. This beneficial anti-wrinkle action is reinforced by the high vitamin E content, which moisturizes and is one of the most powerful natural antioxidants in the fight against free radicals. The vitamin E contained in it protects cell membranes against the oxidation of lipids and thereby slows down the ageing process of the skin.

Aloe extract - an ingredient with highly moisturizing, smoothing and firming actions. It naturally stimulates fibroblasts to increase collagen production. Accelerates the healing and scarring of wounds, has an antibacterial effect - protects against Staphylococcus aureus and E. coli, thanks to which it soothes acne symptoms. Aloe has moisturizing, astringent and regenerating actions as well as delays the skin's ageing process.

Dermo Face Cream

Revolutionary Dermo Face Cream with unique Organic Plus formula. Free from parabens, mineral oils, SLS and SLES, dyes and flavourings, containing only safe and natural preservatives. The cream is intended for daily care of skin exposed to harmful external factors: bacteria, viruses, UV radiation, extreme temperatures and stress. It is ideal for treatment of sensitive and problematic skin as well as skin prone to allergies, struggling with atopic dermatitis and psoriasis. The cream due to the combination of ectoines, allantoin, jojoba oil and hyaluronic acid provides a high level of moisture as well as delays the skin's ageing process. Soothes skin irritation, reddening and itching. Exhibits a soothing effect on the skin and regulates the activity of sebaceous glands.

Ectoine - has a protective and stabilizing action. As a natural substance it has strong actions protecting DNA and human cell membranes. It protects against the negative influence of external phenomena: extreme temperatures, UV radiation, the effects of ever-present viruses and bacteria. In addition to strong protective properties, ectoine is also used to relieve allergy symptoms. This ingredient is also used in dermatology, where it plays an important role in treating and relieving symptoms of atopic dermatitis, psoriasis and acne. Inhibits the development of inflammation and regulates the activity of sebaceous glands. Studies that used Ectoine confirmed that the molecule, due its unique properties to bind water, moisturises the skin, slows down the ageing process as well as reduces itching and rough skin.

Vitamin E - slows down the skin ageing process, deeply moisturizes, smooths and softens the skin. Reduces the harmful effects of sunlight on skin cells and neutralizes free radicals. Allows maintaining the skin's youthful appearance.

Allantoin - facilitates the healing of wounds, soothes symptoms of psoriasis, has anti-inflammatory actions and accelerates skin regeneration. Allantoin is used primarily as a means to stimulate granulation tissue, i.e., the emergence of a new connective tissue, containing a rich network of capillaries as well as accelerates the healing of wounds. Easily penetrates the skin. It softens and removes dead cells. It protects the skin from minor injuries, damages, abrasions and sunburns.

Ginkgo biloba - (Japanese Ginkgo biloba). Due to the presence of numerous flavonoids, ginkgo has a beneficial effect on skin microcirculation and strengthening of vessel walls, preventing the formation of so-called "spider veins". Due to the presence of flavonoids and terpenes, ginkgo delays the skin's ageing process. Flavonoids increase the synthesis of fibroblasts in the skin, and by protecting vitamin C from oxidation, increase the synthesis of collagen and improve the stability of connective tissue. Terpenes inhibit the active factors activating allergic reactions and releasing free radicals.

Hyaluronic acid - used as a natural film covering, protecting the stratum corneum against the penetration of chemicals and bacteria. It is responsible for the proper hydration of collagen, the building material of fibres supporting the skin. It has the unique capacity to retain water in the epidermis, provides the skin with an adequate level of moisture and protects it from losing elasticity.

Hydromanil - a vegetable moisturizing component, using sugar compounds rich in galactomannan, obtained from the fruits of the Tara tree (Caesalpinia spinosa), which grows wild in Andean forests, especially in Peru, in a dry climate, in sandy and rocky soil. Hydromanil has excellent application properties, creating on the skin's surface a very delicate, non-sticky film. Hydromanil exhibits an immediate moisturising action, which remains on the skin for a long time.

Calmosensine - has a soothing action, reduces the skin's sensitivity to external factors. It affects the neuroreceptors, reducing the feeling of skin irritation, giving the feeling of comfort and relaxation.

Collagen - guarantees rejuvenation of the skin and slows down the ageing process. Provides the skin with long-term protection against moisture loss, improves its elasticity and smooths wrinkles. Its systematic use effectively inhibits the loss of natural collagen contained in the skin.

Jojoba oil - obtained from the pressing of seeds from the goat nut shrub, known also as Jojoba (Simmondsia chinensis). It is perfectly absorbed by the skin, strengthens the intercellular cement layer, which in turn prevents dry skin. Used on every skin type and especially recommended for inflammation, sunburn and acne.

Squalane - provides nutrients, deeply moisturizes and oxygenates the skin, prevents damage caused by UV and the formation of age spots, stimulates cell growth and possesses anti-bacterial properties. Gives the skin a smooth and soft appearance.
